

ROMANIAN SCHOOL IN THE EUROPEAN CONTEXT

The local public administration that I represent has always been preoccupied that the act of education that take place in school institutions is one of quality.

Besides this point, we have been preoccupied that the created school infrastructure is one suited for performance, and that it offers students, teachers and parents the necessary conditions for a harmonious education.

The Local Council and the City Hall of Rovinari are on the third project that is accessed through the program “Lifelong learning” developed by the National Agency for Community Programs in the field of Education and Professional Evolution – ANPCDEFP that is a part of the Minister of Education, Research, Youth and Sports.

These projects have the role to prevent and repel the school failure and abandonment, but also to promote the elements of national culture and multilingualism.

Together with the Local Council, we try to promote a healthy life style through the development of specific categories of decisional factors that are involved in the educational process to maintain the health and also increase the capacity of teaching specialists and in that way give them the desire and the impulse to involve themselves in the parental education and send useful information for the health of the students.

In the end I want to remind the students and teaching specialists that we encourage them to involve in projects in which they can gain a wide experience. I ask them to take advantage of what European Union has to offer and commit themselves to this projects and treat each one of their activity in a serious manner.

This is the time for projects and we must involve, because we live in a world where globalization is more intense then ever. It is most important to take advantage of the opportunity that our parents didn't have.

Mayor, Dorin Filip

ROVINARI - NOVEMBER 2012

The first data about the region that today is the area of Rovinari city dates back since Paleolithic period, but the first official attestation of the village Rovinari its mentioned in the year 1497 in the papers made by the king of Hungary, Sigismund or by Iancu of Hunedoara. The name derives from the word "rovină" which means swamp.

Established on the location that belonged to the area of six villages, it was officially named city on 9 December 1981 and it is part of the category of small cities.

Relatively new, the city is a result of a forced human settlement, made by the activities of mining exploitation for lignite from the carboniferous basin, which has the name as the city.

Rovinari city is placed in the south-west region of Romania, on the middle course of the river Jiu, on its right bank at the contact between Getic Subcarpathians and Getic Piedmont, at an altitude of about 150 meters.

Rovinari city has a population of about 13.851 people, with an average age of 36 years, and assigned on sex, a percentage of 50/50% consist in men and 49,50% in women.

The Local Council of Rovinari city is the deliberative authority at local level, the legislative forum of Rovinari city. The Local Council its compound of 17 members, elected by the population that resides in Rovinari city through universal, equal, directly, secret and free will vote.

Through the decisions that it adapts with the vote of the majority of its members, the Local Council support the development of local community. The income and outlay budget of the city, which they adopt every year, provides financial sources for education, culture, investment, development which are vital for the insurance of the social economic progress.

In the Romanian administrative and political system, the Local Council has an important role because his responsibilities have a major role in insurance the development, operation and modernization of the locality.
